

CONNECT GLOBALLY. THRIVE LOCALLY.

ST. LOUIS SISTER CITIES

Sister Cities International is a non-profit, city-to-city network inspired by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956. Today, more than 2,200 cities in more than 90 countries participate. The organization advances peace and prosperity through cultural, educational, humanitarian, and economic development exchanges, empowering private citizens, civic and business leaders to establish city, county or state relationships with like cities worldwide.

GET CONNECTED

Get connected to one of St. Louis' 15 Sister Cities. Whether your interests are business or cultural, Sister Cities offers a number of opportunities to get involved:

- Connect with international business contacts
- Increase awareness of other cultures
- Host international families, visitors and students
- Volunteer locally and globally
- Make mutually beneficial relationships in economic development, education, art, culture, medicine, and sports
- Showcase St. Louis as an international city
