Clayton has a permanent population of approximately 17,355 residents as of the 2020 Census with a daytime population of over 44,000 people. Supplementing the public-school system are several independent (Forsyth and Wilson Elementary) schools that are also highly rated for their academic performance. Three institutions of higher education also call Clayton home: internationally recognized Washington University, Fontbonne University and Concordia Seminary.

Clayton is home to several corporate headquarters, professional companies, dozens of award-winning restaurants, over 200 retail and personal service businesses and the area's only Ritz-Carlton hotel. As of 2nd Q 2022, the overall Class A vacancy rate was 11.3% with an average rental rate of approximately $34/square foot. This vacancy rate is among the lowest in both the St. Louis region as well as other major metropolitan markets.

ST. LOUIS' CENTRAL CORRIDOR

The St. Louis region's Central Corridor runs from Clayton (I-170) on the west to downtown St. Louis City and its riverfront on the east. According to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the Central Corridor "is where St. Louisans fill offices, run companies, conduct medical research, visit museums, attend plays and concerts, dine, study, go to court, ride mass transit and launch startups." The Central Corridor alone contains over 8,000 businesses, more than 175,000 jobs and an increasing number of urban residents that now exceeds 84,000. Metrolink, the region's light rail mass transit system, runs the length of the Central Corridor and has encouraged significant new investment, job growth and business expansion.

DEVELOPMENT POTENTIAL

The City of Clayton, as the western anchor of the Central Corridor, is a suburban community with urban characteristics and has the second largest concentration of workers in the St. Louis region. Currently, there are approximately 10 million square feet of office space in Clayton. Restaurants, galleries, specialty boutiques, shops and hotels also are prevalent in downtown Clayton. Clayton's central location and convenient access to several interstates, major arteries, and light rail, place it within minutes of almost anywhere in the region. As a result, the Clayton Central Business District has exhibited significant commercial and residential development in recent years making available land for development scarce. As such, the Property is unique in both size and location to support office, retail, residential and other uses in the very heart of Clayton.

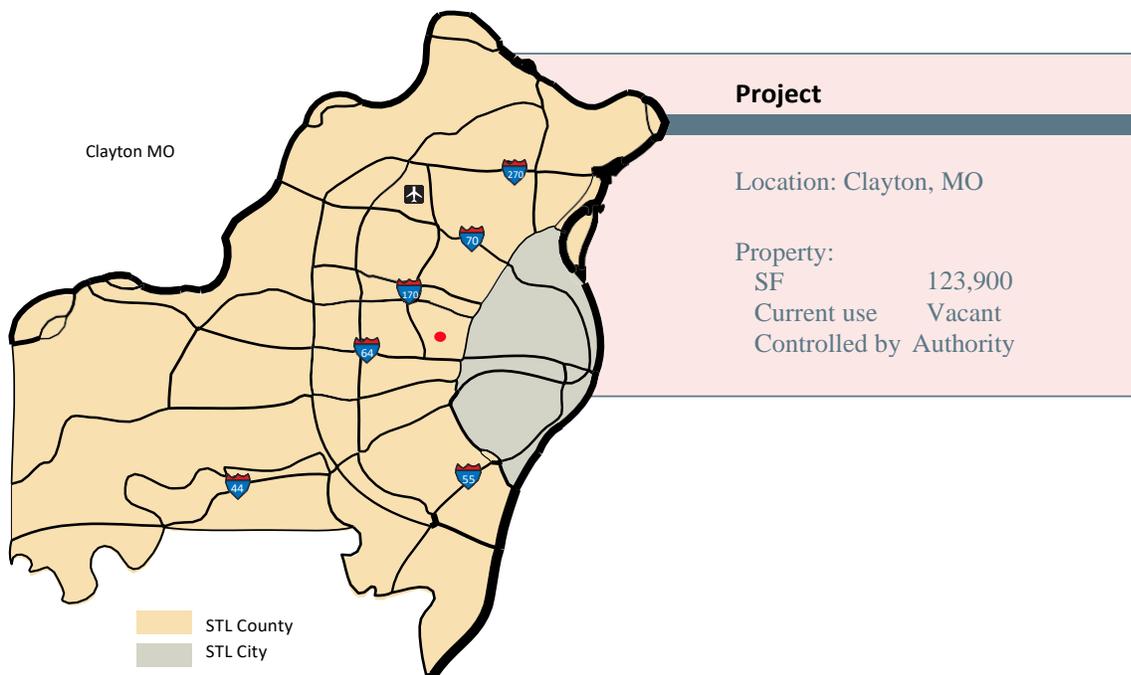

- The Property totals 0.9 acres.
- The Property is being sold 'as is'
- The site is bounded by St. Louis County's Administration Building and Court Facilities to the East, and major apartment buildings to the West and South.
- The Property features excellent access to interstate, major thoroughfares, and the region's light rail system, Metrolink.
